Teacher Reflection on Activity 1: Water as Inspiration

Submitted by Smile Garcia on 2022-06-13

What movement explorations excite you and your students?

Thinking of different bodies of water. Give examples of how water can come from many sources and how will they use the visuals to be inspired to move?

Examples: rain, sea, river, ice, waterfalls etc.

What makes it challenging for your students to explore movement? What makes it challenging for you to teach that exploring movement can aid in the creative process?

Some do not understand what your imagination is trying to express so visuals are important to share in the class introduction to understand what we can be inspired by to move.

What would you recommend to other teachers to do to prepare to teach this activity?

Share the water cycle and how it is important to know how water flows around the world.
